Feedback Report on Curriculum 2022-23

The feedback received from Employers indicates several positive aspects of the curriculum:

- A majority of respondents believe that students possess good knowledge and communication skills, which are essential for success in the workplace.
- The curriculum is successful in encouraging students to work as part of a team, as evidenced by the agreement in this area.
- The feedback suggests that students are proactive and willing to engage in new initiatives, demonstrating a level of enthusiasm and adaptability.

However, there are areas for improvement:

- While the curriculum is generally seen as providing sufficient knowledge, there is room for enhancement to better align with industry needs, as indicated by some respondents who disagreed or were neutral in this regard.
- The development of managerial and leadership qualities could be a focus for improvement, as a notable percentage of respondents expressed neutrality or disagreement in this area.
- It's crucial to address the feedback related to the attainment of required competency levels. Further evaluation and potential adjustments to the curriculum content may be necessary to bridge this gap.

Conclusion and Recommendations

In conclusion, the feedback from Employers provides valuable insights into the strengths and areas for improvement in the curriculum. We appreciate the input of the organization in helping us refine the educational experience for our students.
